V. SALE OF SUBSCRIPTION PACKAGES

1. Subscription orders are handled at a special desk operated by the Theatre's Ticket Services (BOW), while payments are accepted at the Theatre's box offices.
2. When placing a subscription order, the Buyer selects the package and the seating zone, and the Theatre offers him/her a choice of available dates and seats.
3. The Buyer cannot change the titles, dates, or number of performances included in the package.
4. When placing the subscription order, the Buyer completes a contact information form and a questionnaire (Annex 1 hereto) and leaves it with the Theatre employee.
5. The contact details provided in the contact information form are used by the Theatre to handle subscriber services, in particular to provide the Buyer with information regarding his/her package (e.g. in the vent of performance cancellation, change of date or cast). The Buyer may but does not have to agree for his/her personal information to be used for marketing purposes, in particular for the purpose of sending him/her a newsletter and informing him/her about changes in the repertoire and/or special offers for subscribers.

6. The Buyer is entitled to a free Season Book and programmes of individual productions, which are available prior to each production's performance at the reception desk in the main hall, or another place at the Theatre designated for that purpose.
7. Subscription Packages are on sale from 6 June to 31 October 2016, or until all tickets are sold out.
8. The Theatre does not accept returns of Subscription Packages. If a performance included in the package is cancelled for reasons attributable to the Theatre, the Buyer receives a refund for the cancelled performance.
9. Subscription Packages may be booked for 3 days. In the event that a booked package is not bought after that period, the reservation is cancelled.
